Parents Participate in Schools

The new school year is just around the corner and Stuttgart parents' and community leaders' are working to steer their energies and talents into a positive direction for 1998-'99.

Helping to improve the quality of Department of Defense Schools is the Patch High School Parent Teacher Organization, which recently became a member of the European Congress of Parent Teachers Association and the National Parent Teachers Organization. And soon the Patch Elementary School general membership will be given the opportunity to cast their vote as to whether the school will become a member of these organizations as well.

What is the PTA? The PTA's mission is three-fold. First, it is to support and speak on behalf of children and youth in the schools, community and government bodies and other organizations that make decisions affecting children. Second, it is to assist parents in developing the skills they need to raise and protect their children. And third, to encourage parent and public involvement in the public schools.

In addition, the PTA brings some quality new programs into the schools, such as spelling bees, Reflections (a high quality art, music and literature program), scholarships, educational and leadership training and National PTA support and recognition. For more information call 0711-687-7461. The voting date has not yet been set.
